"ON WITH THE DANCE" AT DREAMLAND THEATRE

Mae Murray and David Powell are featured in an intensely dramatic George Fitzmaurice production of New York Life

Sonia Varinoff, young, beautiful, and money-loving, comes to America to join her father, Dimitri Varinoff, librarian to the wealthy Schuyler Van Vechtan, who lives in the tower of one of New York's sky-scrapers which his business success has built.

Lady Joane Tremelyn, daughter of an English countess, has been brought to this country by her mother for the purpose of making a rich marriage. The favored suitor is Jimmie Sutherland, a Westerner, with too much money and too little breeding. Peter Derwynt, Van Vechtan's secretary, is in love with Lady Joane and his employer agrees to help them.

When Sonia makes her appearance, Schuyler gives her over to Peter to look after. The girl becomes attached to Peter and very jealous of Joane. Dimitri, her father, is accidentally killed by a car. This tragedy seems to draw the pretty orphan still closer to the secretary and in a scene that is deliberately framed by Sonia to win Peter's love, Joane becomes convinced that he no longer cares for her and breaks off their engagement. Shortly after she marries Jimmy Sutherland. The union is very unhappy.

Peter, still in love with Joane, works harder than ever to forget. But the devotion of Sonia for him is so innocent and passionate that he gives in and marries her. To bring Joane and Peter together as friends, Schuyler gives a dinner party, at which Sonia and Jimmie Sutherland start a flirtation. They frequently attend parties together after that.

"BY THE SEA" GREAT VEHICLE FOR CHAPLIN

When "By The Sea" comes to the Dreamland theatre Friday, September 24, Charlie Chaplin will cavort in what has been termed his "funniest one-reel comedy. In the course of this thousand foot subject the exponent of laughs crams more action than is usually the case in two part comedies starring his many imitators. He has picked the beach at the sea short this time as the scene of his activities. As a flirtatious young man out for a good time he gets his wish. After many laughable adventures which bring discomfort to his companions and joy to his affectionate disposition. She forgets to mention that her sweetheart, a heavy set gentleman carrying a heavy punch in either hand, is also loitering in the vicinity of the beach. Needless to say, said sweetheart bobs up at the wrong moment (for Chaplin). There follows one of the most uproarious chases in which Chaplin has ever been the leading figure (when we say leading we mean just that). He leads sweetheart, Edna and a motley crowd down the beach, upsetting chairs and umbrellas, thence to the board walk where the various stands offer a tempting target.

HARRY CAREY IN "HUMAN STUFF" MAJESTIC SATURDAY

Five years of globe trotting after leaving college has made Jim Pierce averse to settling down and conducting his father's prosperous manufacturing plant in the East. After convincing both himself and his father that he is a failure as a business man he decides to go West and manage a ranch which his father owns.

The foreman of the ranch and the owner of the neighboring land are conspiring to get control of the property and the arrival of the son spoils their plans. They scheme towards his failure.

Jim circumvents them and, in a letter to his father, humorously suggests that he has everything he wants but a wife and would appreciate a nice eastern girl to share his life on the ranch. A few weeks later a schoolmate of his sister arrives to homestead some land. Jim believes she has been sent by his father. His romance is nipped in the bud by the jealousy of Boka a Spanish girl—the sister of one of his enemies.

How Jim Pierce finally decides to end the machinations of his foes and win freedom to enjoy life and happiness, is told in "Human Stuff," the newest Harry Carey production, which is coming to the Majestic next Saturday.
